What is Credit by Demonstrated Mastery?

CDM is the process by which a student may earn credit for a high school course by demonstrating a deep understanding of the content; without course enrollment or seat time

SBE Policy:
GCS-M-001,
December
2012/2013

Why was CDM adopted?

- To ensure students have personalized learning in our public schools to optimally grow and have effective seat time to learn new content.
- To ensure there is a clear process for earning course credit without seat-time or traditional learning experience. Build upon existing policies.
- To respond to needs of students, families, AIG community, school personnel and leadership.

How was CDM developed?

- Working Group: Internal DPI staff of various perspectives; NCVPS; LEA representatives
- Discussions with AIG and Curriculum and Instruction Groups
- Other state research: At least 19 other states have policies related to earning credit without seat-time
- UPDATES: Input from current implementation

For whom is CDM intended?

- Any NC public school student who is able to show a deep understanding of the content without seat-time and classroom learning experience
- Not intended initially for the masses; intended for highly advanced students of the content
- Student does not need to be AIG or anything...

How does a student earn CDM?

Multi-phase assessment

- Phase 1: Student examination demonstrating foundational knowledge, using an EOC, CTE or other LEA exam
- Phase 2: Student artifact demonstrating application of knowledge, such as Capstone Projects in CTE courses
- Other evidence as LEA deems necessary

DISCUSSION

Commonly Asked Questions

- Do we have to make separate and new assessments for every high school course?
 - NO. LEAs may use any assessment they believe represents the content of the course.
 - Idea: Collect current tests and have a committee choose one to use.
 - Begin with the courses based on need.

Commonly Asked Questions

- Is CDM just for AIG students?
 - NO. CDM is an opportunity for any student to demonstrate a deep understanding of a particular course.
- Can LEAs just use an exam (Phase 1) and not do the artifact (Phase 2)?
 - NO. SBE policy states that CDM will be earned through a multi-phase assessment.
